Long bio ~180 WORDS

Tracy Quinlan is a writer, astrologer, and author of Charting Love with Astrology (Llewellyn, February 2026), a beginner-friendly guide to reading love and relationships in the birth chart. She holds certificates in astrology from Kepler College and the STA (School of Traditional Astrology), and brings a background in sociology and psychology to her work, which focuses on the self-discovery side of astrology, using the chart to spot life patterns and understand relationships rather than to predict the future. Her 30-plus years in the beauty industry inform how she reads Venus: aesthetics, attraction, and what people are really drawn to.

Tracy is also an Acutonics practitioner and teacher, a course and digital-product creator, and the co-host of Sky Notes, a conversational astrology show. Her writing appears on her blog, on Medium, in Aspire Magazine, and in Wellbeing Magazine (print), and she contributes horoscopes to the Llewellyn calendar. Known for a direct, warm, and humor-forward style, she writes for people at transition points who want practical self-understanding they can actually use. She is based in Edmonton, Alberta.
